DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1 and 11, Applicant discloses an expression "when said "V" points to a shoulder of said first hand" that it is not clear. Do you mean, "when said "V" points to the shoulder of the golfer"?

For purpose of examination Examiner is assuming that a grip of a golf club is not claimed in the independent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Park (US Patent No. 6,698,027).

Park discloses a golf glove having a visual alignment feature defining a line (130).

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Harvanek (US Patent No. 5,542,126).

Harvanek discloses a golf glove having a visual alignment feature defining a line (42, see Fig. 14).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 3, 4, 5, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harvanek (US Patent No. 5,542,126) in view of Odom (US Patent No. 4,665,565).

Art Unit: 3711

With regards to claim 2, Harvanek fails to show first and second attachment features on the golf gloves. Odom shows a first attachment feature (46) on the first glove and a second attachment feature (46) on the second glove (column 1, lines 37-45 indicate that there are a pair of gloves. It is also stated that the gloves are mirror images of each other). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide attachment elements as taught by Odom in the Harvanek's invention in order to provide a device wherein relaxation or change of the user's grip of a handle is restrained.

With regards to claim 3, Odom shows a first attachment feature (portion of fastener 46 that is positioned on the thumb area) on a glove surface area above the thumb (see Fig. 5). And with respect to the second attachment feature, column 1, lines 37-45 indicate that there are pair of gloves that are mirror images of each other. Therefore the second glove that is not illustrated in Figs. 5 and 6 has a second attachment feature (46).

With regards to claim 4, Odom shows a first location feature the first glove (46) above the palm surface (referring to Fig. 5 the area above the palm is considered a first location).

With regards to claim 5, part of Odom's attachment element (46) that is located on the index finger is considered as a third attachment feature that is adjacent to index finger.

With regards to claims 6 and 7, part of Odom's attachment element (46) that is located on the little finger is considered as a fourth attachment feature that is adjacent to index finger.

Art Unit: 3711

With regards to claims 8 and 9, Odom discloses attachment features consisting a hook and loop attachment system (see column 1, lines 45-50).

With regards to claim 10, Odom discloses a golf club having a firth attachment feature (44).

With regards to claims 12-24, they appear to be directed to the obvious method of using the Harvanek in view of Odom invention.
